

The Ten Commandments

According to Hund Math Homework

1. Thou shall do and submit homework on time and without unauthorized help.
2. Thou shall head the paper according to the standard heading (see example).
3. Thou shall use only pencil to do math homework.
4. Thou shall write down the original problem and show all calculations that cannot be done in thine head.
5. Thou shall “box” the final answer.
6. Thou shall number the page using a single column.
7. Thou shall use the back of each page.
8. Thou shall skip lines between the end of one problem and the beginning of the next.
9. Thou shall check all odd number problems in the back of the book and correct any mistakes with red pen on a separate sheet of paper.
10. Thou shall write the following pledge at the top of homework and sign before handing in. “I did not cheat. I checked my answers.”
